Divisions/Classes: USPSA has six competitive divisions, delineated by equipment rules: Revolver, Open, Limited, Limited 10, Production, and Single Stack. Depending on your time and accuracy, you will be designated in one of six classes: Grand Master, Master, A, B, C, or D.

Equipment: The handgun you own may be just what you need to get started in practical shooting. Holsters must retain the firearm during any required movement, must cover the trigger of a holstered gun, must point to the ground when the firearm is holstered, and must be carried at belt level; shoulder holsters, fanny packs, et al, are not permissible. Production Division has additional holster restrictions. Other necessary equipment includes spare magazines or speed loaders and belt mounted carriers. Recommend three or four belt mounted magazine/speed loader carriers, depending on the divisions in which you choose to compete.
